(2) The information referred to in sub-article (1) shall be provided to another appropriate adult who is nominated by the child and accepted as such by the Police or by any other law enforcement or judicial authority, as the case may be, where providing that information to the holder of parental responsibility:

(a) would be contrary to the child's best interests;

(b) is not possible because, after reasonable efforts have been made, no holder of parental responsibility can be reached or his or her identity is unknown; or

(c) could, on the basis of objective and factual circumstances, substantially jeopardise the criminal proceedings:

Provided that where the child has not nominated another appropriate adult, or where the adult who has been nominated by the child is not acceptable to the Police or other law enforcement or judicial authority, as the case may be, the latter shall, taking into account the child's best interests, designate, and provide the information to, another person. That person may also be the representative of an authority or of another institution responsible for the protection or welfare of children.

(3) Where the circumstances which led to the application of sub-article (2)(a), (b) or (c) cease to exist, any information that the child receives in accordance with article 534AGD, and which remains relevant in the course of the proceedings, shall be provided to the holder of parental responsibility.

Assistance by a lawyer.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of sub-article (1), the rights referred to in articles 355AUA (1), (2), (8)(b), (c) and (e) and 355AUB shall mutatis mutandis apply to children who are suspects or accused persons under this Title:

Provided that where assistance by a lawyer is not proportionate in the light of the circumstances of the case, taking into account the seriousness of the alleged criminal offence, the complexity of the case and the measures that could be taken in respect of such an offence, the right to assistance by a lawyer may be derogated from insofar as this complies with the right to a fair trial, it being understood that the child's best interests shall always be a primary consideration:

Provided further that the derogation in the preceding proviso shall not apply and children shall always be assisted by a lawyer in the following cases:

(a) when they are brought before a competent court or judge in order to decide on detention at any stage of the proceedings within the scope of this Title; and

(b) during detention:

Provided further that deprivation of liberty shall not be imposed as a criminal sentence, unless the child has been assisted by a lawyer in such a way as to allow the child to exercise the right of defence effectively and, in any event, during the trial hearings before a court.

(3) Where the child is to be assisted by a lawyer in accordance with this Title but no lawyer is present, the Executive Police or any other law enforcement or judicial authority, as the case may be, shall postpone the questioning of the child, or other investigative or evidence-gathering acts as provided for in article 355AUA(8)(e), for a reasonable period of time in order to allow for the arrival of the lawyer or, where the child has not nominated a lawyer, to arrange a lawyer for the child.

(4) In exceptional circumstances, and only at the pre-trial stage, a temporary derogation from the application of the rights provided for in article 355AUA(2), to the extent justified in the light of the particular circumstances of the case, may be applied on the basis of one of the following compelling reasons:

(a) where there is an urgent need to avert serious adverse consequences for the life, liberty or physical integrity of a person;

(b) where immediate action by the investigating authorities is imperative to prevent substantial jeopardy to criminal proceedings in relation to a serious criminal offence:

Provided that for the purposes of this sub-article the expression "pre-trial stage" shall have the same meaning as is assigned to it in article 355AUA(13).

(5) In the application of sub-article (4) the child's best interests shall be taken into account, and a decision to proceed with questioning in the absence of a lawyer under sub-article (4) shall be taken on a strictly case-by-case basis either by the Police or by any other law enforcement or judicial authority as the case may be:

Provided that such decision may be appealed by the holder of parental responsibility or another appropriate adult as referred to in article 534AGE before the Court of Appeal (Inferior Jurisdiction) within twelve (12) days from such a decision.

Right to individual assessment.

534AGG. (1) In the application of the provisions of this Title, the specific needs of children concerning protection, education, training and social integration shall be taken into account.

(2) For the purposes of sub-article (1), children who are suspects or accused persons in criminal proceedings shall be individually assessed. The individual assessment shall, in particular, take into account the child's personality and maturity, the child's economic, social and family background, and any specific vulnerabilities that the child may have:

Provided that the extent and detail of the individual assessment may vary depending on the circumstances of the case, the measures that can be taken if the child is found guilty of the alleged criminal offence, and whether the child has, in the recent past, been the subject of an individual assessment.

(3) The individual assessment shall serve to establish and to note, in accordance with the recording procedure permitted by law, such information about the individual characteristics and circumstances of the child as might be of use to the Court when:

(a) determining whether any specific measure to the benefit of the child is to be taken;

(b) assessing the appropriateness and effectiveness of any precautionary measures in respect of the child;

(c) taking any decision or course of action in the criminal proceedings, including when sentencing.

(4) The individual assessment shall be carried out at the earliest appropriate stage of the proceedings and, subject to sub-article (5), before the child is charged with a criminal offence.

(5) In the absence of an individual assessment, a child may nevertheless be charged with a criminal offence provided that this is in the child's best interests and that the individual assessment is in any event available at the beginning of the trial hearings before a court.

(6) Individual assessments shall be carried out with the close involvement of the child. They shall be carried out by qualified personnel, following, as far as possible, a multidisciplinary approach and involving, where appropriate, the holder of parental responsibility, or another appropriate adult as referred to in articles 534AGE and 534AGN, and, or a specialised professional.

(7) If the elements that form the basis of the individual assessment change significantly in the course of the criminal proceedings, the Court shall order that the individual assessment is updated throughout the criminal proceedings.

(8) The Executive Police or other law enforcement or judicial authority, as the case may be, following consultation with the Director of the Department for Social Welfare Standards, may derogate from the obligation to carry out an individual assessment on a case by case basis where such a derogation is warranted in the circumstances of the case, provided that it is compatible with the child's best interests.

Right to a
examination.

(3) The medical examination shall be carried out either on the initiative of the Court, in particular where specific health indications call for such an examination, or on a request by any of the following:

(a) the child;

(b) the holder of parental responsibility or another appropriate adult as referred to in articles 534AGE and 534AGN;

(c) the child's lawyer.

(4) The conclusion of the medical examination shall be recorded in writing and, where required, medical assistance shall be provided:

Provided that another medical examination shall be carried out where the circumstances so require.

Audiovisual recording of interrogation.

534AGI. (1) Questioning of children by the Executive Police or other law enforcement or judicial authorities during criminal proceedings shall be audio-visually recorded where this is proportionate in the circumstances of the case, taking into account, inter alia, whether a lawyer is present or not and whether the child is deprived of liberty or not, provided that the child's best interests are always a primary consideration.

(2) In the absence of audiovisual recording, questioning shall be recorded in another appropriate manner, such as by written minutes which are duly verified.

(3) Any audiovisual recording or records of questioning of children in any other manner shall be kept confidential and shall not be publicly disseminated.

(4) This article shall be without prejudice to the possibility to ask questions for the sole purpose of the identification of the child without audiovisual recording.

Deprivation of liberty.

534AGJ. (1) The deprivation of liberty of a child, in particular detention, at any stage of the proceedings shall be imposed only as a measure of last resort and shall be limited to the shortest appropriate period of time, taking due account of the age and individual situation of the child, and of the particular circumstances of the case.

(2) Any detention of a child shall be based on a reasoned decision, which shall be subject to appeal.

(3) The decision referred to in sub-article (2) shall be subject to periodic review by the Court acting ex officio, commencing no later than six (6) months after the decision imposing deprivation of liberty was adopted and every six (6) months thereafter, for as long as the decision remains in force:

Provided that, without prejudice to judicial independence, any decisions to be taken pursuant to this sub-article shall be taken without undue delay.

Alternative measures.

(2) Children who are kept in police custody shall be held separately from adults, unless:

(a) it is considered to be in the child's best interests not to do so; or

(b) in exceptional circumstances, it is not possible in practice to do so, provided that children are held together with adults in a manner that is compatible with the child's best interests.

(3) Without prejudice to sub-article (1), when a detained child reaches the age of eighteen (18), that person may continue to be held separately from other detained adults where warranted, taking into account the circumstances of the person concerned, provided that this is compatible with the best interests of children who are detained with that person.

(4) Without prejudice to sub-article (1), and taking into account sub-article (3), children may be detained with young adults, unless this is contrary to the child's best interests.

(5) When children are detained, the detention authorities shall take appropriate measures to:

(a) ensure and preserve their health and their physical and mental development;

(b) ensure their right to education and training, including where the children have physical, sensory or learning disabilities;

(c) ensure the effective and regular exercise of their right to family life;

(d) ensure access to programmes that foster their development and their reintegration into society; and

(e) ensure respect for their freedom of religion or belief:

Provided that the measures taken pursuant to this sub-article shall be proportionate and appropriate to the duration of the detention.

(6) Paragraphs (a) and (e) of sub-article (5) shall also apply to situations of deprivation of liberty other than detention. The measures taken shall be proportionate and appropriate to such situations of deprivation of liberty.
